Admiral Reis took the initiative in precipitating the revolutionary movement among the vessels of the fleet which lay anchored off Lisbon. He had agreed with the other Republican naval leaders that a salute of 31 guns should be the signal on each boat apprising them of the success of the revolution.

In despair he drew his revolver and fired a shot into his head, dying at once.

Joe Martin Passes Away on Sidewalk, to Which His Cot Was Carried.

Ship Carpenters Go to Metropolis Funeral.

DEATH FROM DIPHTHERIA

While fire raged in the boarding house of J. W. Burton, 321 South Third street, Joe Martin, an aged ship caulker, lay dying in a room. Willing hands removed his bed to the sidewalk, where he died in a short time. He was never conscious after the fire broke out. The house is one of the oldest in the city, and was not damaged seriously.

Martin was 72 years old, and was a ship caulker at the Paducah marine ways. For several days he was not working and was taken seriously ill last night. He has been in Paducah about a year, coming here from St. Louis. Little is known of his relatives, but he is said to have come from a good family. He has a daughter in Cincinnati and a daughter in St. Louis. His body was removed to the morgue of Mtil. Effner & Roth, pending word from relatives.

The first broke out in a closet on the lower floor, where bed clothing was stored. No cause is given for the fire, although it is presumed that rats gnawed matches. The flames spread up the walls, but hose company No. 1 and truck companies Nos. 1 and 4 checked the fire before it spread. The building is owned by E. W. Bagby and was erected many years before the Civil war.

Martin was in a room on the south side of the boarding house, while the fire was on the opposite side of the hall. For fear that the flames might spread to his room, his bed was carried to the sidewalk, where he died.

Forest Fire Destroys Many Towns On Minnesota-Manitoba Border and Snuffs Out Hundreds of Lives

Worst Disaster In Fifteen Years Reaches News Agencies This Morning—Thousands Homeless Wanderers

Warroad, Minn., Oct. 10.—At least 200 persons have perished in the forest fires, which have raged in this district for the last three days, and the death toll may reach 750 to 1,000, according to information received at Warroad, in the heart of the burning district at noon today. The towns of Beaudette and Spooner are completely wiped out, while the villages of Graetzon, Swift, Roosevelt, Pitt and Cedar Spur have been destroyed.

Worst in 15 Years.

Warroad, Oct. 10.—The greatest catastrophe in Minnesota that has occurred since the Hinkley horror 15 years ago, occurred Friday night and Saturday when the whole of the Minnesota-Manitoba boundary country was swept by fire and as the details become known the disaster assumes appalling proportions. The number of deaths is estimated from 100 to 200, almost entirely among the settlers of the woods around the towns of Beaudette, Pitt, Roosevelt and Graetzon. Very few settlers are known to have escaped. This estimate will likely fall considerably short of the actual number. The scenes are horrible. People lost their heads completely. The streets of the towns are strewn with personal belongings.

Crowds of able bodied men ran pell mell to board the waiting train at Beaudette to the exclusion of women and children and refused to assist in saving property. An east bound freight went through the burned country near Pitt. Pitt burned at 7 o'clock Friday night. A hurricane was blowing and within ten minutes after the appearance of the fire the inhabitants of the town were forced to flee, being unable to save anything.

The fire was heralded by a shower of burning brands which swept across Beaudette river. The inhabitants had scarcely time to board the special train waiting before the town was on fire. Sick people apparently by the score appeared and were carried or assisted to points of safety.

There were five patients in the Carrigan's hospital, which burned. One woman who had given birth to a child at five o'clock the same evening had to be carried to the office of a lumber company, where many people took refuge. The bulk of the population of Beaudette are housed at Rainy river and a special train is waiting to take the people to some other point east in case the fire should get a fresh start. The town is not entirely free from danger. The buildings of Shevlin-Mathew Lumber company are practically the only structures left standing in Spooner, not even a tree, fence, or foot of sidewalk being in sight. There are not even heaps of debris. Everything was entirely licked up. The property loss in Rainy river Beaudette and Spooner alone, including the Rat Portage Lumber company's plant and the yard at Rainy river and the yard of the Shevlin-Mathew Lumber company at Spooner will total about $1,500,000.

At Rainy River.

Rainy River, Oct. 9.—The known dead in the forest fire are: Six unidentified at Pitt, Minn. An unknown woman and boy, homes near Pitt. Seven unknown settlers west of Pitt. Two entire families, one of eight and one of seven, near Pitt, recently from Grafton, N. D. JOHN Tilly and five members of his family, recently from Fullerton, Nob. One servant, ALBERT DERG, of Spooner. Four land speculators from Davenport, Ia., recent arrivals at Beaudette. JOHN SIMMONS, of Red Oak, Ia., a timber ranger. MATSON BERG and five members of his family, at Spooner. JOHN HOLLIN and family of eight from Pitt. SEVERETT HAGEN. GEORGE WEAVER. CHARLES HATKER. PATRICK OMEARA, all of Arlington, Minn.

Thousands Missing.

The missing include some 2,000 residents of Beaudette, Spooner and Pitt, some of whom are dead but the most of whom are safe in Rainy River and adjacent towns on the Canadian side. The most serious aspect is that the missing includes homesteaders in the brush for a distance of 100 miles east and west and 20 miles south of here. Nothing can be learned. While the wind is keeping the fire moving eastward on the BANKS CLOSE.

All the Paducah banks will close Wednesday, October 12, all day on account of that being Columbus Day, a state holiday. It is observed now in 18 states. Paducah Knights of Columbus will go to Waverly to the celebration on a special train, leaving here over the Illinois Central at 6 o'clock a. m., and arriving there about 9. Several hundred knights from southern Kentucky will attend. They will return that night about 10 o'clock.

South side of Rainy river at 50 miles an hour, a great body of flames has wiped this section revealing a calamity that has already reached the limit of an international disaster.

Railroad and wire connections from the west are cut off by the burned district from Warroad, Minn., on the Canadian Northern railroad for a distance of 40 miles, through which the last trains passed last night at the peril of the lives of the crew. The road is open to the south and east and relief is being afforded from Fort William.

These fires have been smoldering in that district for months. They were started anew by the terrific wind which began two days ago. A wave of flame over a hundred feet high and as long leaped as far as half a mile wide. It was this situation that caused so many to perish on the railway track. They sought this opening in the brush but perished.

Tells Thrilling Story.

James Ramsey, of Spooner, said: "I was several miles south of Beaudette when I first heard the roar of the flames. I started to run for town but the fire was coming fast and was close. I caught up with a man who was accompanied by a

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. B. Smalley, of the Second Baptist church. It was a quiet affair with only a few of the couple's intimate friends present. JUSTICE HUGHES TAKES HIS PLACE ON SUPREME BENCH

Ceremony of Swearing In New Member of Supreme Court This Morning.

Convenes For Fall Term of Great Importance.

JUSTICE HARLAN PRESIDES

(United Press Associations)
Washington, Oct. 10.—The supreme court of the United States, presided over temporarily by John M. Harlan as senior associate justice, opened the October term today and prepared for what is likely to go down in history as one of the most important years in the record of that judicial body.

Charles Evans Hughes took the oath of office and was seated at the extreme left of the bench in the place customarily occupied by the last commissioned of the justices. When this impressive ceremony was completed the court heard motions. Justice Harlan thereupon announced the death of Chief Justice Fuller during the recess and the court adjourned out of respect of his memory. The usual practice of adjourning to call upon the president was dispensed with as President Taft was not in the city. The real work of the court will begin tomorrow when cases will be heard.

Including Justice Hughes there were only seven of the justices on the bench, the place formerly occupied by Justice Moody, being vacant and another vacancy occurring as a result of the death of Chief Justice Fuller. These cannot be filled until appointments have been made by President Taft and confirmed by the senate.

In accordance with the traditions of the supreme court the justices assembled in the robing room whence they were escorted to the chamber by the Marshal J. H. Wright. It was in the robing room that the first oath to support and defend the constitution and was taken in the presence of the other justices only. This having been administered the procession formed to enter the supreme court chamber, the justices taking their places in the line according to seniority.

Ex-Governor Hughes, as yet without his new title, followed at the end of the procession. Upon entering the chamber he took his seat at the clerk's desk in accordance with the procedure that has been followed for many years.

Justice Harlan, after the court opened, announced that Mr. Hughes of New York, who had been commissioned a justice of the court was present. He then directed the clerk, James H. McKenney, to read the commission. Following this, Justice Harlan directed that the oath of office be administered. This was done by the clerk, Mr. Hughes following with a firm voice, saying: "I, Charles Evans Hughes, do solemnly swear that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as associate justice of the supreme court of the United States according to the best of my abilities and understanding, agreeably to the constitution and laws of the United States. So help me God."

The marshal then shook hands with the new justice, according to custom, and escorted him to his seat on the extreme right of the bench as he sat down Justice Holmes, occupying the next chair, shook hands with him and the other justices bowed without rising.

BATTLE BETWEEN YANKEE MARINES AND HONDURANS

New Orleans, Oct. 10.—Private messages received here today from Central America say that Honduras soldiers have taken possession of American mines about Amapala by orders of the port commandant. Mine managers today sent tugs down the river to Amapala on which they hope to take United States marines from the gunboat Princeton up to the mines and regain their property tomorrow.

—Hal Sullivan, who was hurt by an automobile October 1, was removed today to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. T. B. Owen, 1436 Trimble street.
